About

Our trusted, authoritative clinical journals are written and peer reviewed by Australian medical experts, edited by qualified staff and independently published in Australia for a readership of GPs, specialists, medical students and other healthcare professionals.

Available in print and online.

Number of Issues Per Annum

Includes a minimum of 18 journals per year, plus supplements and collections.

Subscriptions

Medicine Today Pty Ltd offers subscriptions for single users and multiusers. Subscriptions are available online and/or in print.

Subscription Period

The annual rate covers a full journal subscription year beginning from the date payment was received.

Back Volumes and Single Issues

Information on the availability and prices of single print issues, print back volumes or electronic backfiles can be obtained by emailing subscriptions@medicinetoday.com.au.

Authorised Access

Access is regulated via IP address(es) and/or user ID/password. Medicine Today Pty Ltd will support OpenAthens if there is the demand.

Prices

All prices are based on Australian dollars and subject to change.

Ordering

Institutional subscription purchases and any permission requests should be made by emailing subscriptions@medicinetoday.com.au.

Single-user subscriptions can be purchased via www.medicinetoday.com.au/subscribe.

Institutional Subscriptions

Provides annual multiuser digital subscriptions for one geographical site.

Terms and conditions: Also called a site licence, an institutional subscription provides full text access online to all articles in our archive from January 2000. An institution must provide all IP addresses that will be used from their geographical site.

Tiers are based on gross numbers, not full-time equivalent. Print copies for each library site (Australia only) are provided on request with each subscription. Arrangements can be made regarding pricing to cover more than one geographical site.

Academic institutions are defined as educational institutions (e.g. universities, schools and colleges). Clinical institutions are the libraries or programs associated with medical and healthcare providers. Corporate institutions are business entities that are neither clinical nor academic (e.g. government portfolios, corporations, private libraries and small businesses).
